My thoughts on America's Movement West video, is that first of all, I think it is absolutely horrible, despicable, what has occurred in American history. It is deeply despairing to grasp the totality of the destruction- of precious human life. In all actuality, I feel that I could never really understand because I cannot relate. I have never personally experienced what the Native Americans have gone through. But my heart does bleed for them. These historical events are the ugly truths that remind us of what this country is really about-money and power. What I have learned from history so far, is that hate is born out of fear and ignorance. The root of all evil-is not money-but greed. The massacre of Indigenous people has been like a thorn in our country's back, so to speak. It is America's dark reality. It reminds me of a few lyrics heard in a song called No Shelter, produced by an American rock band known as Rage Against the Machine. The lyrics are:

“American eyes, American eyes

View the world from American eyes

Bury the past, rob us blind

And leave nothing behind”
